Maybe you always serve mince and pumpkin pie for dessert to follow a holiday meal. This year you might like to vary the rule and serve something different.

Refrigerator desserts that may be made in advance are a real boon to the busy homemaker. With a choice of desserts ready to serve she's prepared to use one as a part of a regular meal or as a treat when guests drop in.

These recipes will make delicious ready-to-serve desserts to have on hand during the holidays.

No-Bake Fruit Cake

3 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 1/2 tsp. allspice
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup powdered sugar
2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup chopped candied orange peel
1 cup chopped candied lemon peel
1 cup thinly sliced citron
1 cup candied cherries, halved
2 cups coarsely broken walnuts
1 can sweetened condensed milk

Grind crackers to fine crumbs. Measure crumbs, spices, salt and sugar into a bowl. Mix well. Stir in raisins, candied fruits and walnuts. Scald condensed milk in top of double boiler. Stir milk into crumb and fruit mixture. Blend thoroughly.

Line two 6 x 3 1/4 x 2 1/4-inch loaf pans with strips of waxed paper — grease the pan and grease the pan into pans and press down firmly. Chill in refrigerator at least 12 hours. Remove cakes from pans and wrap in plastic film or foil. Keep refrigerated for serving.

Candy-Cake Roll

1 lb. graham crackers
1 lb. fresh dates
1 lb. marshmallows
2 cups chopped walnuts
Sweetened condensed milk

Roll crackers to fine crumbs. Pit dates and chop quite small. Cut marshmallows in 6 to 8 pieces. Combine crumbs, dates, marshmallows and walnuts. Mix in enough sweetened condensed milk to moisten so you can shape mixture.

Shape into a roll. Wrap well in heavy waxed paper. Chill for 24 hours before serving. To serve, slice and top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

Frozen Eggnog

2 cups milk
2-in. stick cinnamon
6 whole cloves
6 whole allspice
3 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1 envelope gelatin, softened in 1/4 cup cold water
1 pt. heavy cream, whipped
1 tsp. rum extract

Scald milk with whole spices. Strain. Beat egg yolks and beat in sugar. Add salt and nutmeg and stir in milk. Cook, stirring constantly, over low flame until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from flame, add softened gelatin and stir to dissolve gelatin.

Chill until mixture is partly set. Beat egg whites to stiff — peak stage. Fold in whipped cream and chilled custard mixture. Put into freezing trays. Freeze until mushy. Mix in flavoring. Finish freezing. Cover dessert with foil or waxed paper to prevent frost on surface.

Parents Hear Talk About Teacher Point of View

"The teachers' point of view is not very different from the parent's point of view," stated Ross Hancock, area personnel officer, recently at a meeting of the Lomita-San Pedro PTA Council.

"Teachers not only want the same standards of teaching but the same basic curriculum needs the parents insist upon. In addition a teacher spends teaching hours and leisure hours determining the path to achieve these goals," he asserted.

Ross pointed out that a teacher must be aware of the emotional involvements of the individual child and the outside environments which frequently interfere with the accepted norm for the age group.

"The immature adult demands in the teacher a standard of behavior far above the daily exposure of a child in his home environment," he stated.

Many teachers, principals, in an effort to reach the adult public join community groups such as the Federation of Community Coordinating Councils. These groups offer the teachers an opportunity to communicate educational needs, welfare needs and public understanding, he explained.

The role of the professional organization in relation to the teacher's point of view was expressed by Jack Bailey.

Bailey explained the importance a public media of information of the groups. He stated that the teachers professional group has a responsibility to communicate to the non-professional the criteria, the needs, and the standards of the teacher.

"Professional standards dictated by many groups, are dictated by many groups, public, private and controversial," he said. In an attempt to explain these, he pointed out, the Community Relations Conference on Education is held annually. He noted that the attendance at this conference is 75 percent public, and 25 percent professionals in education.

Bailey stated in conclusion that "Educational citizenship is a mans responsibility to himself, and the children he teaches, and teaching is not the professional teachers responsibility alone. The public, parent and non-parent contribute to the learning experience of each eager young mind."

What is beautiful is good, and who is good will soon be beautiful.
